

About me

I am a business master's student at NUS with a cross-cultural background in content creation, campaign thinking, and go-to-market analysis. Having studied in Japan and worked on cultural video content for international audiences, I am comfortable translating ideas across cultures and platforms.

I am particularly interested in integrated marketing because it connects content, guest experience, partnerships, and brand storytelling. For Holiday Inn Express, I hope to contribute my strengths in digital content, campaign ideation, and structured communication to support simple, smart, and guest-focused travel experiences.

Key Strengths

- Cross-cultural communication: Mandarin, English, Japanese, and basic French
- Content sense: experience in cultural storytelling and short-form video
- Strategic thinking: led GTM strategy work in an NUS business project
- Fast learner: transitioned from Japanese studies to business and won NUS Jumpstart Pitch Day 2025
